

CONCORDAT

Research Staf

, published in September 2019, sets out the employment conditions required to create the very best culture for research staff to thrive. It identifies working practices and clear responsibilities, vital to increase the appeal and sustainability of research careers.

The Concordat has three